The first of these is the fact that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, involving many factors which are not yet fully understood.
 The second is that the system is not a static one, but a dynamic one, which is constantly changing and evolving. The third is that the system is not a closed one, but an open one, which is in constant contact with the outside world.
 The fourth is that the system is not a linear one, but a non-linear one, which is characterized by the fact that the whole is greater than the sum of its parts. The fifth is that the system is not a deterministic one, but a probabilistic one, which means that the future is not predetermined, but is subject to chance.

The sixth is that the system is not a homogeneous one, but a heterogeneous one, which means that it is made up of many different parts which are not necessarily equal in importance. The seventh is that the system is not a uniform one, but a non-uniform one, which means that it is not the same everywhere.
 The eighth is that the system is not a continuous one, but a discrete one, which means that it is made up of many small parts which are not necessarily connected. The ninth is that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, which means that it is made up of many different parts which are not necessarily equal in importance. The tenth is that the system is not a static one, but a dynamic one, which means that it is constantly changing and evolving.
